Wheelie bin cleaning outside your home

Wheelie bins and dustbins are magnets for bacteria and insects, and can attract flies, wasps, foxes, mice and rats if there's a strong odour or if the bin is over-filled.

- To reduce odours, rinse out packaging such as tins and bottles beforehand, and squeeze air out of rubbish bags and tie them before putting into the bin (the lack of air slows down the decomposition rate).
- If possible, store outside bins in the shade to minimise smells and reduce the likelihood of attracting flies. If a bin is exposed to sunlight it will only speed up the rotting effect.
- Try smearing citronella oil, a natural insect repeller, around the lid of the bin if flies do become a problem.
- Wash outdoor bins once a month by squirting some bleach into them and half filling with water. Swill this around and leave to sit for an hour or so. Tip the dirty water into an outside drain and rinse the bin again, inside and out, with clean water. Turn upside-down to drain dry.

Alternatively...

- There are plenty of cleaning companies offering domestic bin cleaning service, including food caddies, for a one-off payment or a more regular cleaning schedule.
